Next morning your liver is clean, your system purified, and you are feeling like a two-year-old—with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

An O. HENRY Story a Day

A Newspaper Story
Copyright, 1920, by The Hearst Syndicate, Inc.

At 5 a. m. it lay on Giuseppe's newspaper still damp from the previous evening's rain. The headline of the first page, with the cunning of its ink, blundered on the opposite corner leaving his patrons to believe that the paper was a theory related to the hypothesis of the watched.

This particular newspaper was, according to its custom and design, an educator, a guide, a mentor, a champion, a household counselor and a valid medium.

From its many excellencies might be selected three editorials. One was in simple and chaste but illuminating language directed to parents and teachers, denouncing corporal punishment for children.

Another was an accurate and significant warning addressed to a notorious labor leader who was on the point of instigating his clients to a trouble-making strike.

The third was an eloquent demand for the abolition of the death penalty.

Besides these more important editorials and quotations upon the store of good citizenship was a wise prescription for the cure of a heart ailment by the editor of the heart-to-heart column in the specific case of a young man who had complained of the oddness of his lady love, teaching him how he might win her. Again, there was on the second page a complete answer to a young lady inquirer who desired admission toward the securing of bright eyes, rosy cheeks and a beautiful countenance.

Other items requiring special cognizance was a brief "personal," running thus: "Forgive me, you were right. Meet me corner Madison and 14th at 2 o'clock this morning. We leave at 3 o'clock."

At 8 o'clock a young man with a haggard look and the feverish gleam of a young man who had been up all night and picked up the top paper as he passed Giuseppe's stand. A sleepless night had left his face ashen. He was an office boy, he reached by 9 o'clock and a shave and a hasty cup of coffee to be crowded into the interval.

He visited his barber shop and then hurried on his way. He pocketed his paper, meditating a belated personal at the luncheon hour. At the next corner it fell from his pocket, carrying with it his pair of new gloves. Three blocks he walked, missed the gloves and turned back fuming.

Just on the half-hour he reached the corner where he lay the gloves and the paper. But he strangely ignored that which he had come to seek. He was holding two little hands as tightly as ever he could and looking into two pensive brown eyes, while joy rioted in his heart.

"Dear Jack," she said, "I knew you would be here on time."

"I wonder what she means by that," he was saying to himself; "but it's all right. It's all right."

A big wind puffed out of the west, picked up the paper from the sidewalk, opened it and sent it flying and whirling down a side street. Up that street was driving a skittish bay to a spider-wheel buggy the young man who had written to the heart-to-heart editor for a recipe that he might win her for whom he sighed.

The wind, with a prankish dour, flapped the flying newspaper against the face of the skittish bay. There was a lengthened streak of lightning in the cosmogony, the buggy became matchwood as he forded, and the driver reared very quickly where he had been flung on the asphalt in front of a certain brownstone mansion.

They came out and had him inside very promptly. And there was one made herself a pillow for his head and cared for his injuries.

"Dear Jack," she said, "I knew you would be here on time."

you? it was you all the time, Bobby? You didn't you see it? And if you die, why, so must I, and—

But in all this wind we must hurry to keep in touch with our paper.

Policeman O'Brien arrested it as a character dangerous to traffic.

Straightening his disheveled leaves with his big, slow fingers, he stood a few feet from the family entrance of the Shandon Bells Cafe. One headline he spelled out ponderously: "The Papers in the Front in a Move to Help the Police."

But, whiff! The voice of Danny, the head bartender, through the crack of the door: "Here's a nip for ye, Mike, could man."

Behind the widespread, amiable columns of the press Policeman O'Brien receives swiftly his nip of the real stuff. He moves away, stalwart, refreshed, fortified, to his duties. Might not the editor man view with pride the early the spiritual and moral fruit that had blessed his labors.

Policeman O'Brien folded the paper and poked it playfully under the arm of a small boy that was passing. That boy was named Johnny, and he took the paper home with him. His sister was named Gladys, and she had written to the beauty editor of the paper asking for the practical advice of beauty. That was weeks ago, and she had ceased to look for an answer. Gladys was pale, with dull eyes and a disconcerted expression. She was dressing to go up to the avenue to get some bread. Beneath her skirt she pinned two leaves of the paper Johnny had brought. When she walked the rustling sound was an exact imitation of the real thing.

On the street she met the Brown girl from the flat below and stopped to talk. The Brown girl turned green. Only silk at $5 a yard could make the sound that the Brown girl made. Gladys proceeded toward the avenue. Her eyes now sparkled like jet. Her cheeks, a triumphant, subtle, vivifying smile transfigured her face. She was beautiful. Could the beauty editor have seen her then? There was something in her answer in the past, I believe, about cultivating kind feelings toward others in order to make plain features attractive.

The remaining leaves of the active journal also went loyally to the proving of its potency.

Johnny returned from school he sought a secluded spot and removed the missing columns from the inside of his clothing, where they had been carefully distributed so as to successfully defend such areas as are generally attacked during scholastic examinations. Johnny attended a private school and had had trouble with his teacher. As has been said, there was an excellent editorial against corporal punishment in that morning's issue, and no doubt it had its effect.

After this can any one doubt the power of the press?

WIFE USED KNIFE, SAYS HUSBAND

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—R. M. Doyle, a stevedore residing at 315 Fifth street, is at the Central emergency hospital with severe knife wounds about the face and head, inflicted, according to the police, by Doyle's wife, Margaret, as a result of her announced determination to break Doyle of the habit of staying out all night.

Doyle told the police he returned home early this morning and was attacked by his wife with a butcher knife as soon as he had entered the front door. Mrs. Doyle was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Doyle said his wife several days ago warned him the next time he stayed out all night she "would fix him."

L. Tirillanes, a motion picture operator, is recovering today from lead and opium poisoning taken last night at his home at 542 Twenty-second street. His mother, a doctor, discussed the case or say whether the poison was taken accidentally or with suicidal intent.

Johnny returned from school he sought a secluded spot and removed the missing columns from the inside of his clothing, where they had been carefully distributed so as to successfully defend such areas as are generally attacked during scholastic examinations. Johnny attended a private school and had had trouble with his teacher. STRANDED TANKER AGAIN FLOATED

The 10,000-ton tanker Vacuum, which ran into the mud on the Alameda shore while she was being launched at the Moore Shipbuilding company plant Saturday night, was floated with the high tide at midnight last night. A securing chain broke when the tanker started down the ways and it plowed into a mud bank.

The big vessel lurched forward, the ways shunted after Mrs. Ernest Smith, wife of the manager of the Vacuum Oil Company, the ship's purchaser, broke a bottle of champagne against the steel bow. The ship's course was diverted as she ploughed across the Oakland estuary, and it struck the shore with a force that rammed the bow high up on the muddy banks. All day yesterday tugs and several hundred workmen worked to pull the hull back into deep water.

The Vacuum is the first hull turned out by the company for private concerns since the beginning of the war building program.

Two Weeks From Today

The motor truck interests of Oakland and all other progressive communities will celebrate Ship by Truck-Good Roads Week

Trains of motor trucks will start out from hundreds of cities into the surrounding territories carrying a live message to farmers and merchants en route:

That the motor truck—first proven at the Battle of the Marne and developed through four years of war—has broken the transportation tie-up in America and is carrying the short-haul tonnage of the country.

Ship by Truck is clearing away congestion at railway terminals; it is releasing our railroads for the development of profitable long-haul facilities. Ship by Truck is extending the trading radius of every town and city. It is bringing farm products direct to the market quickly and economically.

Where the traffic is developed, there the highway is needed. Ship by Truck demonstrates the commercial value of Good Roads—a clinching argument.

During the week of May 17th to 22nd thousands of Ship by Truck-Good Roads demonstrations from Maine to California will arouse the public consciousness to the need of better distribution and quicker transportation.

Leaders in the Nation's business, in the financial world and in government circles, endorse the Ship by Truck movement and this great demonstration of its efficiency.

The commercial interests of Oakland are backing the Oakland tours. It is a great co-operative movement that every citizen has an interest in.

To the truck owners, operators and everyone concerned with better short-haul transportation:

Get in touch with headquarters. Find out what you can do to help make Oakland demonstration week a thorough success.

TIRED, BODY AND SOUL?

Not Sick, But Still Not Yourself. Think You'll Be Better Tomorrow—Only You're Not

Try Taking Pepto-Mangan
It Isn't Sleep You Need, But a Good Tonic—More Red Blood

Everyone gets run down occasionally. Sometimes it's weeks before you get your energy, enthusiasm and happiness back again. Any doctor will tell you to be careful in a time like this. Your body has little power of resistance, and the danger of catching some serious disease is great. Temporarily, your blood has too few "fighting" corpuscles.

It's the work of these same red corpuscles to keep you free from fatigue. Being constantly tired out—depressed in body and mind—is almost a sure sign that your blood needs help for a time.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a standard remedy in cases of anemia (or bloodlessness). It supplies the iron and other properties your blood needs to catch up with its task of keeping you fresh and alert in every fibre.

Pepto-Mangan has the hearty endorsement of physicians, is an agreeable tonic to take, and may be had at any drug store in either liquid or tablet form. Both have same medicinal value.

Be sure to ask for Gude's. There is only one genuine Pepto-Mangan on the package—Advertisement

MY HEART and MY HUSBAND

by ADELE GARRISON

"Of course, she won't blackmail Madge's father any more, but there'll always be the danger that when her first flight is over she'll try to communicate with Madge in some way, and there's more than a chance that Mr. Gordon will find it out. That we mustn't let happen. He's an old man, and obsessed by the fear that his daughter will learn about this woman. No, I'd like to spare M. de, but there's no other way. She must confront the woman and let her know that there's nothing more her venom can accomplish."

"You mustn't think of sparing me," I cried vehemently. "Do you think I'm going to stay safely out of the way while you people who have worked so hard have all the unpleasantness of our every-day work?"

"And if it were not for Mrs. Underwood's very plausible argument, I shouldn't think of putting you to accompany us. But we all must bow to her decision."

His manner had suddenly taken on the quality I remembered so well in the days of my youth with him in the service. It was impersonal, decided, authoritative. I felt suddenly like a small child that had been bidden to sit quietly in the corner out of every one's way.

There were a dozen questions crowding to my lips, but I repressed them sternly, devoted myself to the remembrance of my dinner in silence, and waited for the next opportunity to which both Mrs. Underwood and Allen Drake confined themselves. I would not run the risk of again being snubbed, as I constituted Mr. Drake's words.

LILLIAN'S CAUTION

I shall not soon forget the trip to the house where, all unsuspecting of our coming, sat the woman who had made such havoc in the lives of my parents. Lillian had given me a nasty and cautioning admonition when we were in her room after dinner getting ready for the trip.

"Don't be provoked into saying anything tonight unless it is distinctly your cue to talk," she said. "I am not going to have you come in at first but you will be within sight and hearing of everything that goes on. And when you do enter the room at my summons, just watch me. I'll manage things so you'll know just what to do."

I felt relief and a touch of chagrin at her words. Relief that I had no responsibility in the trip before us, chagrin which I subsequently knew was unworthy of me, that I was to be merely the puppet in the drama of the evening, pulled hither and thither by the strings held by the capable fingers of Lillian Underwood and Allen Drake.

It was only faint chagrin toward Lillian that I felt. My resentment

CZECHS VISIT S. F. ON RETURN HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—More than 3000 Czech-Slovak soldiers who were driven from their homes by Russian Bolshevik hordes are in San Francisco while the U. S. army transport Mount Vernon coals and prepares for the continuance of its voyage to Hamburg, Germany from Vladivostok.

Besides returning the Czech-Slovak soldiers, the American transport, which is the largest vessel ever to enter San Francisco bay, will repatriate over 600 German war prisoners.

A total of 4552 persons are on the vessel, including soldiers, prisoners, passengers and crew. The Mount Vernon is commanded by Captain Northan Ferguson. Major Draputin Cezka is in command of the Czech troops.

Many of the Czech-Slavs are accompanied by their wives, for though they were forced to become soldiers because of Russian persecutions, they originally were citizen refugees from their war-torn home land. They were given a rousing welcome on their arrival. The hucayelids etao aels rival here by local residents who are natives of Czech-Slovakia.

District Second in Thrift Stamp Sales

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Treasury Department reports received by the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco show that residents of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District invested $1,382,267 in Thrift and War Savings Stamps and Treasury Certificates during the first sixty days of 1920, or a per capita investment of twenty cents on the basis of the 1910 census report. This places the district second among the eleven other Federal Reserve Districts in per capita investment, with the Fourth, of Cleveland, Ohio, district leading. The total investment in these securities for the sixty-day period throughout the United States and its possessions was $13,278,789.80.

EXHIBITION OF MILLINERY.

The Lockwood Continuation Classes in millinery and dressmaking will give an entertainment and exhibition of their work in the Lockwood Auditorium, Wednesday evening, at 8 p. m. The millinery class under Miss Elizabeth Burroughs has been working since October, and the dressmaking class under Mrs. Louise Kurtz since January.

Unfortunately, was all for Allen Drake. I was childishly glad when in the taxcab Lillian sat between me and the man whose assumption of authority I so disliked.

TYPIFIES AMERICANISM

Tomorrow California Speaks

Johnson, the Evangelist of red-blooded Americanism, has electrified the East. The demand for Hiram Johnson by the plain people of Nebraska, Montana, Michigan, Dakota, Minnesota and the thousands who supported him in New Jersey (where he elected 12 delegates), Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts, must be given the unanimous approval of all Californians.

These voters have unqualifiedly endorsed Senator Johnson as the greatest statesman and leader in American public life today.

The Republicans of the Nation are only awaiting California's approval of her Native Son to make the nomination of Johnson a certainty.

We appeal to your common sense, native pride, patriotism and Americanism to vote for the Johnson delegates tomorrow.

VOTE EARLY AND SEE THAT YOUR FRIENDS VOTE

OAKS ARE NOW FIRMLY ENTRENCHED IN SECOND PLACE

BEST TRACTORS WIN FROM HOLT CATERPILLARS IN NINETEEN INNING GAME AT STOCKTON

HOLLING AND KREMER TACK ON VICTORIES TO WIN SERIES 5-2

Even Walter Mills, Sacramento's Pitching "Ace," Fails to Stop Slugging Oaks.

By BOB SHAND. Three cheers a tiger and then turn the rest of the menagerie loose in honor of our Oaks who took a pair of games from the Sacramento Yipppers yesterday and incidentally romped off with five of the seven games played. The local athletes are resting easily in the second place, just a little way behind their dear enemies, the Seals, and there is reason to believe that the Oaks won't be so far behind in the very near future. Carl Holling, the boy wonder, made it seven straight without a defeat in the morning when he bowled over the visitors six to one and Ray Kremer did nobly in the afternoon when he held the enemy to two tallies while his little play-mates were gathering ten.

Young Mr. Holling worked before an admiring audience of seven thousand fans and families in the morning game and the local kid again provided a high class exhibition of chucking. Five blows, three of them home runs, were made by the men from the capital and, except when his little play-mates made boots and things, the Seals were never in danger of crossing the well known platter until the last frame when they sneaked out a run.

Kunz Gets Off to An Unpromising Start. Kunz started for the Senators and for a time it looked as though he would last all of a fraction of an inning. After walking Billy Hamilton up, Manager Rodgers became so apprehensive for the safety of his flinger that he hopped up to the plate and started an argument with the umpire, the object of which was to give another pitcher time to warm up. Then Kunz walked Hamilton and Rodgers shimmied all over the landscape. De Valtals was rapidly getting his supper in working order in the bullpen, but before he could be called into action Kunz retired the side. While sacrificed, Miller and Knight faded infield.

The first Oakland rally was shoved over in the third when Billy Hamilton was smacked with a pitched ball, moved to second on an out and romped home on Miller's man's sized blinger. Zeider walked in the next frame. Arroyo sacrificed and Mitze put Rolfe on third with a hit. Then Carl Holling had one down and sneezed. Rolfe home.

Little Honus Mitze Contributes Big Hit. Knight walked in the third, Zeider sacrificed and Arroyo delivered a blow that chased Knight home. Then came Rolfe's sacrifice and the Oakland team to the exit in right field and Pop arrived. Holling fouled out but Lane binged to score the home run. Rolfe doubled in the seventh. Miller reached second on Springer's sacrifice.

And Denny scored on Knight's sacrifice fly. The lone Senatorial tally arrived in the ninth. Stump got a hit and Cook flew to Lane. Flittery, batting for De Valtals, who replaced Kunz at first, began the seventh, drew a Stump sacrifice single to score Stump and keep Holling from a shut-out.

Billy Lane is no friend of Bill Stump. In the fifth and seventh innings he made a pair of circus catches that deprived Big Bill of two three-base blows.

The seventh was a phoney inning but Billy Hamilton saved the day. Schanz, batting for Kunz, was safe when Rolfe Zeider attempted a put-out at first while he had his foot off the bag. De Valtals laid one down and Zeider had been killed at first but Holling hit him on the shoulder with the ball and there were two on. McCaffigan walked to jam the corners and it looked tough with Middleton up. Roxy hit the second one towards short. The ball was going a mile a minute but Hamilton got in on a line and held the little pill although the force of the blow nearly carried him off his feet.

Maybe sometime when Billy Phyle is not too busy he will announce the pinch hitters and change pitchers or maybe Prexy McCarty will find a minute sometime to call his umpires warm up. Then Kunz walked Hamilton and Rodgers shimmied all over the landscape. HENIE LAY'S TRIPLE AND ALLAN'S SINGLE DECIDE GREAT GAME

San Leandro Tossers Show Spirit by Overcoming Six-Run Lead Gained by Caterpillars.

By EDDIE MURPHY. STOCKTON, May 3.—In the longest professional or bush game played in the State this season, the C. L. Best Tractors of San Leandro defeated the Holt Caterpillars here yesterday afternoon 10 to 9. Henie Lay, the big San Franciscan, who was on the mound for the Tractors, is the big hero. In the nineteenth inning with two of his team-mates resting on the bags, he drove a long triple to left center field that chased both of them home. Then Rod Allan drove Lay home with a hit to left. While the score reads like the game was a ragged one, it was one of the best games ever witnessed here. Elmer Shea of Crockett was on the mound for the Holts and he also pitched a wonderful game, besides cracking out a three-bagger in the sixteenth inning that saved his team from an earlier defeat, for Ed Pessano, who played a wonderful game at second for the Tractors, had driven in a run for his team in the same inning with a hit to center.

More than three hundred San Leandro fans traveled to Stockton to witness the game and we felt sorry for some of them who made an early start for home after the Holts had started a six run lead in the sixth inning. A couple of errors, a double by Ed Pessano and singles by Carl Duff and Rooney did the work for the Holts.

Tractors Do Come-Back and Score Five Runs. These Stockton fans certainly know how to hand out a warning and they didn't hesitate to give one to the Tractors fans after that big rally, but it took only a couple of innings for the San Leandro tossers to give their fans a chance to shout. They came back in their half of the seventh inning and scored five runs. McGeorge's error allowed Schreiber to reach first base and the fun was started. Singles by Andy Vargas, Roy Nelson, Charley Durling and Fuller, and two walks issued by Shea, did the rest. Durling's single was a corker and scored two runs.

Henie Lay scored the tying run in the eighth inning when he drew a walk, left on second and Rod Allan walked a single to left. From then until the sixteenth inning it was a great mound battle between Shea and Lay and several times nice catches were made in the pinches.

Ed Pessano's Single Gives Tractors a Run. Rod Allan got three hits in the contest and each of them helped in scoring. In the sixteenth after one was out, he singled, stole second and went to third on Duffy's wild throw. Then came Ed Pessano with a hit back of second base that scored Lay. It looked like the winning run, but Shea fouled the fans by getting a triple to right field in the eighth inning. A couple of errors, a double by Shea, hit by pitcher—Zeider. Hamilton by Kunz. Left on base—Sacramento 8, Oakland 4. Time of game—1:45. Umpires—Phyle, Anderson. House responsible for Kunz 3, Holling 1.

In the Springtime

It's just at this time of the year that we need something taken from Nature to restore the vital forces.

People get sick because they go away from Nature, and the only way to get well is to go back. Something grows out of the ground in the form of vegetation to cure almost every ill. Some of these vegetable growths are understood by man, and some are not. Animals, it would seem, know what to do when they are sick better than men and women. Observers have noted that a sick horse, dog or cat will stop eating food and seek out some vegetable growth in the field or yard, when found and eaten, often restores appetite and health. Haven't you seen those animals do this very thing yourself?

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found herbs and roots provided by Nature to overcome constipation, and of these he selected Mayapple leaves of Aloe, root of Jalap, and from them made little white sugar-coated pills, that he called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. You must understand that when your intestines are stopped up, poisons and decayed matter are imprisoned in your system and these are carried by the blood through your body. Thus does your head ache, you get dizzy, you can't sleep, your skin may break out, your appetite declines, you get tired and despondent. As a matter of fact, you may get sick all over. Don't you see how useless all this suffering is? All that is often needed is a dose of castor oil, or something which is more pleasant, a few of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which he has placed in all drug stores for your convenience and use. Try them by all means. They are the very thing you need—right now.

School Merger Postponed, Figures Will Be Revised

When it was shown before the board of supervisors today that although the Oakland Board of Education had petitioned for the annexation of the Emeryville school district, Oakland is now receiving about twice as much from Emeryville through taxation, as the cost of educating her high school pupils amounts to, Lloyd Barzoo, business manager of the Board of Education, asked that the matter be continued until further investigation could be made.

The board voted to grant the petition to annex the San Leandro district.

Arthur Mack, deputy county superintendent of schools, was called and testified that Emeryville pays about $10,000 in high school taxes, 43 per cent of which goes to Oakland. There are a maximum of 20 pupils from Emeryville attending Oakland's high schools. Thus Oakland receives about $300 per pupil for educating them, while the cost per pupil, according to Barzoo's figures of last year, is $1,000.

The board passed a resolution creating the Alameda County Welfare Council of six members from Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, and three at large, the latter to be named by the supervisors and one of them to be a member of the board of supervisors. Oakland's representatives are to be named by the Associated Charities of Oakland, the City Organization Society of that city and Alameda's by its city manager.

The Kiwanis Club, through Attorney Abe P. Leach, its president, and Alameda County Building Trades Council, through resolutions favoring city and county consolidation.

PHYSICIAN WINS $289 JUDGMENT

Superior Judge E. J. Brown has confirmed the judgment of Justice of the Peace Harry W. Puleifer in awarding $289 to Dr. A. Miles Taylor, physician, from the Rhodes-Jamison company.

Rhodes-Jamison furnished material for about forty bungalows contracted for by Dr. Taylor. After the contract was completed the physician sent a check for $273 to the company to pay for a supposed balance due. According to the testimony, the bookkeeper told the messenger bringing the check that only $284 was due. He asked that the difference be given to him, which was done. He disappeared with the coin.

Rhodes-Jamison's defense was that the money had been returned and the company was not responsible if the bearer of it decamped. Both Judge Puleifer and Judge Brown held that the messenger was nothing more than a messenger and that he was not responsible for the loss of the money. The physician made him its agent and assumed responsibility for whatever he did with it.

WILL URGE NEW SCHOOL CLASSES

Establishment at the beginning of the next school term of the continuation classes provided for under an act of the last State legislature, will be recommended to the Board of Education this evening by Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter, who will suggest that the new school be put into operation under the direction of the bureau of research and extension and not the Vocational High School.

In addition, those who cannot read or write English must attend until they are 21, either during the day or in the evening. The law goes into effect July 1.

Superintendent Hunter will recommend that the Vocational High School be made principal of the continuation school on a half-time basis. The headquarters of the new institution will be in the Vocational school, with classes in the high school and the new Vocational building under the approaching building program will contain quarters for the continuation school. The board's decision will show 362 girls and 514 boys in the city of the age of 15 years.

A BUSY DAY.

The lassitude that comes with spring has failed to descend upon the council rooms of the city of Berkeley, where in one day the commissioners have thrown out a park commission, adopted a new zoning plan, and have ordered monthly statements of accounts from all organizations going to the people for subscriptions. Rather a full day's work for any body of men who have no claims for double pay in extra hours.

In repealing the ordinance that created the Berkeley park commission the council has set the stage for a melodramatic play that will see many bitter engagements before the curtain is rung down. There are many persons in Berkeley who believe in a park commission and who believe that affairs of civic beauty will be better handled by such a body than by a council of "hard-headed businessmen" who run for office.

So it is that they believe that when the park commission decided that a row of acacia trees along University Avenue would make a path of gold that would give to the city a distinctive beauty, the commission did no wrong. It was because the park men did this after the council had disapproved of the plans that the ordinance was repealed, the commission dissolved, and a superintendent of parks left without knowing whom he is to serve.

The zoning ordinance is one of the most comprehensive of any considered in the United States, and upon its acceptance and the results achieved will depend the advisability of its adoption elsewhere. It not only sets apart districts in which factories cannot be built, but designates others in which nothing but industrial plants will be permitted. It would keep hotels and apartment houses out of certain residence sections and would exercise a marked control over the building that is to be done in the city.

It will be seen at the outset that such a law will meet with strong objection by individuals who may be caused monetary losses through its operation and will be given an equal amount of praise by those who benefit. It will take time to demonstrate the manner in which it will satisfy the whole community. In passing the ordinance the council in Berkeley did so with the provision that it may be voted on at the next municipal election.

The ordinance, then, may be said to be on trial in Berkeley. The voters are to be given a taste of it and, if they like it, may order more at the polls.

MEXICAN ELECTIONS.

Positive confirmation of the report that President Carranza has cancelled the call for the general elections scheduled for next December for the selection of his successor may be lacking but there can be but little doubt as to eventualities. If Carranza retains governing powers at Mexico City he will be disinclined to permit a national election that would certainly result in turning him and his clique of politicians out of office. In the event the Sonora revolutionaries or any other anti-Carranza power obtains control of national affairs it will not be any more disposed toward facing a popular verdict on its fitness than Carranza.

When the federal government sent an army against Governor Calles of Sonora to coerce the authorities of that State to action in connection with the presidential campaign that would favor Carranza candidates it knew that only a miracle would avoid provoking armed revolt. The outcome was so certain that Carranza has been charged with deliberately starting the revolution, a charge which has abundant support in facts as well as theory. The anti-Carranza forces, knowing that if the federal administration was permitted to exercise its will regarding the campaign they would have no chance of obtaining power over the central government by peaceful means, also welcomed the opportunity for organized rebellion.

Therefore the prospect for the selection this fall of a new president of Mexico by popular vote is exceedingly small. In view of present conditions this may not be a serious misfortune. With the republic divided into armed camps the people would not determine the result. Only a handful would vote and they would be directed how to vote by one or the other of the military forces, depending on which side controlled the district on which they resided.

The outlook is for another military decision on the government of Mexico. This has been the case ever since Porfirio Diaz first came into power over forty years ago. The neighboring nations of Mexico and other countries which maintain relations with the unhappy republic can only await the outcome with as little impatience as possible.

MORE ENERGY NEEDED.

In the interest of good government and a city's fair reputation Governor Stephens ought to consider favorably the request of the bar association of San Francisco that the investigation of corruption in the police courts of that city be taken from the domination of the district attorney and placed in the hands of the State Attorney General. It has become more apparent each day that if any soft pedaling and concealments and evasions can be used to save the accused police judges and the underworld agents with whom they are charged with dealing District Attorney Brady will offer no positive opposition.

The scandalous business relations between the police courts and a small gang of bail bond brokers is so widely known that no amount of delay or manipulation will serve to blind the public to the true conditions. The only proper thing to do is vigorously to prosecute the offenders and bring the police judges and their friends among the bail bond brokers, who have been indicted by the grand jury, to speedy trial.

A peculiar situation has developed in the grand jury, which has been investigating the police courts for the last three months. A small group of jurors, apparently gathering around the member of the grand jury who is a law partner of Judge Oppenheim, has successfully blocked the return of a corrected indictment against that judge. This and other acts which the district attorney has done nothing to rebuke have no doubt convinced the officials of the bar association that it is time to look to other legal processes for cleaning up the disgraceful situation.

The Attorney-General is not particularly known for alacrity in pressing cases in the public interest, as witness his unfulfilled promises in connection with the milk dealers. But he is that official agency prescribed by law in case the district attorney fails in the performance of his duty. Governor Stephens may take it for granted that the bar association has not exaggerated the situation. Action by him as requested would be timely and probably useful. For once he should ignore his political advisers and help San Francisco justice in the rehabilitation of its self respect.

LAURELS FOR THE MULE.

This war of tractors, trucks and motor-driven carriages has not robbed in any measure the glories that are the army mule's. Word of praise for the long-eared recipient of profanity, the creature seemingly designed for the special benefit of cartoonists and for hard work, has been withheld while those tributes were being paid to the various men and organizations who helped win the war. Those who know the history of armed conflicts have been waiting the tardy words that shall set the mule right and offset the abuse and laughter to which it has been subjected.

To the 45,000 mules, "the powerful, upstanding, mealy-nosed product of the Middle West," and the smaller and leaner ones of Spain, England, and France, the Quartermaster General has paid handsome compliment:

"It was necessary to keep them on the move forty-eight, sixty and sometimes seventy-two hours with hardly more than a pause. Then it was possible to feed only a small amount of grain and a few handfuls of hay. Under this strain the mule went forward, giving his all uncomplainingly."

Some of them gave out but they picked up amazingly with rest at the rear. When they quit they quit beyond the powers of any sergeant's profanity to budge them, for it was only with the last gasp. At San Mihiel and the Argonne, says the report, they seemed to know what was at stake, for they stuck it out.

Had the mule been born with a different disposition, with something of grace, and a beauty of line, there would be poets to sing its praises. But it would not be a mule.

Advices from Washington are to the effect that there is an unofficial feeling that amounts to satisfaction over the overthrow of Cabrera, for more than twenty-two years president of Guatemala. It seems that this domination had been furthered, at least to an extent, by his assumption that the United States government was favorable to it, which there was no effectual diplomatic method to refute. Cabrera has now been declared insane. For five days he bombarded Guatemala City in a ruthless attempt to retain power, but after great havoc he was forced to surrender and the revolution triumphed. Whether the new regime will be recognized by the United States is now the important thing with Guatemalans, as the precedent established by President Wilson in the Huerta instance—that Latin American governments established by force would not be recognized—is in point.

The overall as a national movement seems to be wearing out.

How about "the full sugar bowl" for a campaign slogan?

NOTES and COMMENT

The price of Pullman berths has taken a leap in the same direction as the cost of sugar. The general effect will be different, however, for not everyone feels the need of a Pullman berth every day. But when he does feel the need, that 20 per cent advance will confront him.

A despatch tells of aviators having a mishap at Lima, Peru, having just arrived from New Orleans. It used to be a long roundabout and arduous sea voyage to Peru. This news item would seem to make it merely a drive over to the next town. Nothing has so shortened distance as the airship.

Trade joke by the Sacramento Bee: With wages as they are in shoe factories, a vampire now rides in no flashier a car than a vampire.

A despatch states that 98,500 pounds of sugar has been discovered in a hoard at Omaha. This isn't much, considered in connection with the national consumption, but it will not be surprising if such despatches are frequently met with. The prodigious jump in price is most readily accounted for on these lines.

Azerbaijan comes into notice again. Azerbaijan is a country in northwestern Persia and has a people that have emerged and demanded independence, or something. Within its borders is Mt. Ararat, 17,000 feet high. The other time the country attracted attention was when this considerable eminence was utilized as a landing place for Noah's craft. It is thus seen how a country's fame recurs if it simply possesses patience.

It is getting so nowadays that unless a man can have several special privileges, he wants to pull down the pillars of civilization—Richmond News.

Twenty-five cent bread is the prediction, and the prediction comes from St. Paul, which is very near that place whence comes the slogan, "Eventually, if not now." Recent events have prepared us for almost any skyrocketing of this sort. However, there is always a chance that the dire thing predicted may not happen.

Just what was predicted and expected is beginning to get the sort to go to the bottom of the police court business in San Francisco is failing, for one thing from lack of cooperation in the prosecutor's office. How could it have been different under the circumstances?

Mr. Bryan says he was surprised to learn that he is a presidential possibility. And we are here to tell him he isn't going to have any monopoly on that sort of feeling, either—Reading Searchlight.

The Attorney General of California supplies the State Superintendent of Public Instruction with an opinion that permitting the use of school buildings for church purposes would be a violation of the state constitution. This is something new and a little surprising.

A university professor urges as a measure to circumvent sugar prohibition that sugar be preserved without sugar. Unsweetened jam doesn't sound attractive, and anyhow college professors are not always to be relied on culinary matters. These are not gauged after the manner of the binomial theorem.

The Washington Post has its joke: "With snow 13 inches deep in western Nebraska, the embattled farmers had difficulty in maneuvering their Fords to the primaries, but their hearts are all on it."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

A new ailment is developing. It attacks ambitious cities. It has been given no technical name, but for want of a better designation it may be known as "census heartache." It comes on violently immediately upon the report of a new census. Washington city has increased only ten percent, when its boosters were hoping and praying for a gain of from thirty to fifty percent—Long Beach Press.

Okolehoo, a fiery intoxicating liquor unknown to the Federal authorities, is causing heavy travel to the islands. It is said to be still more demoralizing than the good graces of the hula-hula girls—Los Angeles Times.

Washington reports that there are now but 100,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits remaining in the country. But it isn't remaining, judging by the returns—Richmond News.

A Boston doctor says that one cause of influenza is the habit of putting too many clothes on a naturally naked animal like man. But, doctor, the women have influenza quite as much as men—Richmond News.

It's about time for somebody to start a movement to organize a searching party for Colonel House—Richmond Independent.

"Lo, the poor Indian whose untutored mind," etc., was poetry. The modern prose of it is that the squaws of Elko, Nevada, have organized and are demanding $4 a day and two meals for domestic service, or $5 a day without meals. Their "untutored minds" used to be content with $1 a day and meals—Stockton Record.

Replying to the inquisitive subscriber who says, yes, we know exactly what the President thinks of the Senate and its treatment of the treaty. We have read his mind. But we can't print it, because paper is exceedingly combustible—Richmond News.

A Redding sport had a "horse on him" the other day, but only yesterday another fellow had a horse on him. He was helping to make it up in West street—Reading Searchlight.

The ancients had a fable about Icarus burning his wings in the sun, but the Ohio flier who went up seven miles was nearly frozen to death—Reading Searchlight.

THE RUHR DISTRICT

The Ruhr basin was the power plant of Germany's former industrial machine and mighty war engine, hence it is not surprising France should be suspicious of any movement which might lead to jockeying by Junkers to regain control there," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The peace treaty stipulation that Germany must not construct fortifications within 50 kilometers to the east of the Rhine" loosens her absolute control over one of the richest coal fields in the shattered empire, over Ruhr, which had the largest river harbor in Europe, over the once-busy factory cities along the Ruhr's crooked course, and above all, over Essen, city of the Ruhr's cast steel and cannons.

"The confluence of the Ruhr and the Rhine was the geographic factor in making Ruhrort, though only one-twelfth the size of our own Pittsburgh, comparable in economic importance to that municipal child of the Ohio and Allegheny rivers. The entire region might be likened to western Pennsylvania.

"Between the Rhine and the Ruhr is Duisburg, city of rolling mills, foundries and factories. Once this beehive of industry was a university town, and a grimy memorial fountain to Gerardus Mercator, latinized form of Gerhard Kremer, is a reminder that the inventor of the famous map projection method was associated with Cassander, who, nearly four centuries ago, was commissioned to found the University of Duisburg. Kremer was not a German, it should be noted, but a Flemish geographer who studied at Louvain.

"But the crown jewel of the Kultur" which drove the earlier culture of university life out of the Ruhr basin was Essen. Essen, too, experienced a transformation, for it originally was the site of a Benedictine convent. For three centuries preceding its incorporation into Prussia, Essen was governed by the Abbess, who became ex-officio, a princess. Duisburg is connected with the Ruhr by canal, and "Though the Krupp works were founded in 1812, the year 1848 saw them with only 70 employees. But with the advent of railways and cast steel guns the Krupp works expanded rapidly and their subsequent story is world famous—or infamous—for their incubation of wars.

"Muelheim is a railway center, seven miles northwest of Essen, where convergence of rail and water routes brought an enormous traffic. Four miles east of Essen is another Ruhr river port, Steele, a mining town with iron and steel works, also noted for its fireproof bricks.

"Further up the Ruhr is Witten, important not only for steel but also for beer, soap and chemicals. Within the area of the present disturbances, though it is on the Rhine, a scant five miles south of the Ruhr's mouth, is Dusseldorf. This is one of the most pretentious cities in western Germany. It was bombed by the French in 1795, later was the capital of Berg when that state was a Napoleonic duchy, and passed to Prussia, with the rest of Berg, in 1815.

"The Ruhr basin coal fields not only were important to the German Empire because of their heavy production, but because they alone were accessible for water importation of ores. A canal connected Dortmund, a city of the Ruhr basin with the Ems river, thus affording an outlet directly to the North sea at Emden.

"A by-product of this development of water transportation to care for the coal mining and the attendant iron and steel industry, was the growth of textile manufactures. In cotton spinning the Ruhr basin held first place in Germany. Nearly a third of the spindles in the empire were located here.

"The Ruhr was made navigable from the Rhine to Witten, some 43 miles, by means of locks. Even then, low water frequently hampered navigation."

Pneumonia Not a Winter Malady Only—Beware Today

By DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University)

If a person were to turn lightly to appropriate garments for the ever changeable spring weather as the young man's fancy turns to love there would be less "colds," "spring fever," and hardly any of "that tire feeling."

The lassitude, the sapped-out lackadaisical feelings prevalent during the spring of the year usually indicate that the bloodstreams are a balmy, sunshiny, midday, have lured you into a perspiration, which the suddenly cooled afternoons and evenings often convert into either a low degree of mischief, such as a sensation of lassitude, or feeling "worn out," or a higher degree of mischief, like "colds," pneumonia, tonsillitis, acute joint infections, fever, chorea or other bacterial disorders.

To be sure, of these several venal abominations, pneumonia is perhaps the worst. A "cold" or influenza settles more or less on the surface membranes of the nose, throat and pulmonary tubes. If very virulent, their microbes may penetrate into the lymph and blood stream and set up veritable high jinks of devility.

Pneumonia is a much more deep-seated demon. Its germs have a predilection for the lungs themselves. There they multiply, flourish, thrive and spread their kind into the nooks and crannies of the pulmonary sponge until it is a solidified mass.

Recovery from pneumonia is accomplished by destruction of the pneumococci in the lungs and blood. When this defensive process has been produced in sufficient amount rapidly to destroy the germs, the recovery is by crisis. When it is insufficient amount to destroy them slowly, the recovery is by lysis. This latter form of recovery is the most frequently encountered.

Practically all persons harbor the pneumococcus in the throat. This germ is very ready to attack the person who becomes debilitated and especially to add its attack to that of the influenza bacillus.

THE NEW LAND OF OPPORTUNITY.

Time was when China aroused in us perhaps a little awe, but no great desire for more intimate contact than could be supplied by a map of the Eastern Hemisphere.

Today we witness if not a transformed China, at least a changed attitude toward China. Some of this change in attitude may be due to the Chinese, and some of it may be due to the fact that we know more about this great undeveloped country. Today all forward-looking financiers the world over testify not merely in words but in deeds, that China is the land of opportunity.

"There are in this country," says Julian Arnold, special agent of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, "about 300,000 people studying Spanish to prepare for South American trade; on this basis there should be at least 3,000,000 studying Chinese, for there are in China at least ten times the potential trade opportunities that there are in South America."

What China needs more than anything else, according to Mr. Arnold, who has spent eighteen years in China, is railroads and modern machinery. There are in that country only 6500 miles of railway as compared to our 265,000 miles, this notwithstanding the fact that China's area is greater than ours; and that her population is four times that of the United States. Her natural resources are as abundant as anything to be found anywhere in the world.—Detroit News.

Price was driving carelessly, according to the police, and the train was upon him before he saw it. The driver suffered concussion of the brain, abrasions of the left hand and strain of the muscles and ligaments of the back of the neck. McSwain suffered severe abrasions about the face and bruises on the left shoulder.

Arma Motokamo, 2040 Channing way, Berkeley, was seriously injured when his automobile overturned in the Leona Heights district. He suffered several fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

Norman Mascaro, a Japanese living at 1126 Telegraph avenue, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he was run down by an automobile driven by John W. Plocher, at Twenty-first and Harrison streets. He was taken to the emergency hospital, suffering from internal injuries and a fractured skull.

In a collision last night between cars driven by John Estes, 89 Scenic avenue, Richmond district, and Doyle, 1634 Millway street, Berkeley, both cars were damaged. Estes was placed under arrest for driving without an operator's license. The accident happened at Fifty-second and Telegraph avenue.

ALAMEDA, May 2.—R. M. Batesman, 8001 Dana street, Berkeley, and Walter Ramasco, 1525 St. Charles street, were taken in custody yesterday by Police Officer Jasi. Batesman was driving 44 and 45 miles per hour, across the marsh. Both were ordered to appear in court Thursday.

Miss Hayes Carman, who lives at 1000 Broadway, suffered abrasions of the scalp and abrasions of the right knee and body. John Shepherd, 538 O'Farrell street, suffered two fractured ribs and a fractured right arm.

Shepherd was arrested and booked on a charge of driving a machine while intoxicated. Shepherd's car struck the rear of a machine driven by Albert Hubbard, 1080 Geary street. Hubbard's machine struck the other car, a glancing blow and rolled over the embankment into the mud, pinning the driver and the two women beneath it. Miss Johnson and Miss Carman are chorus girls with "The Passing Show."

Walter Bakke, 9 years old, 1041 Treat avenue, suffered a fracture of the skull when he ran in front of a motorcycle driven by Harry Kern, 1978 Treat avenue.

POINTERS FOR MARY PICKFORD IN WEAVER CASE

The divorce case of Mrs. Viola M. Weaver, Oakland, has set a precedent that may be followed in the action pending to set aside the decree granted Mary Pickford. As a result of the dismissal in the justice court at Reno of the complaint charging William H. Sheldon with subornation of perjury in the Weaver case the Nevada Supreme Court will be asked to pass on one of the chief points in the Pickford action. Sheldon was arrested again on the same complaint and is now in institutional proceedings on the accusation that there can be no evidence to confer jurisdiction in a divorce case because the point is not a material issue. The same point is involved in the Pickford case.

news of the Churches

The Civic Society of the Welsh other sons of Abraham to spurn him. The religious obstacle—he was cast out of the synagogue and his gifts detested and rejected.

It was the last chance for Zoroaster. Christ never went that way again. Suppose he had not accepted the Jewish grater overcame all obstacles and got to Christ, for the man that really wants to get to Christ will find a way.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN
Rev. Frank A. Sisley preached at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning on the subject "The Faith that Withers the Barren Fig Tree." The Jericho grater overcame all obstacles and got to Christ, for the man that really wants to get to Christ will find a way.

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL
"Oakland is one of 24 cities of more than 100,000 population which are not disposing of their garbage by the incineration process and hereby are losing millions of dollars annually. There are nine cities which do this and receive $1,000,000 yearly therefrom. Industry has learned to take care of its waste. Nature has none. Why should we? Eliminating waste in manhood and womanhood—save the human race." These were declarations and questions in a sermon by Rev. Charles L. Kloss, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church on "The By-Products of Religion," in which he discussed some of the aims of the Interchurch World Movement.

The future of nations depends not so much on earnings as on thrift. The future of the world depends on the spreading of the word of God. The only way to sow good seeds in the minds and hearts of the youth of the land is through the Sunday schools, the secular schools, colleges and universities.

FIRST BAPTIST
"Can a Grafter Be Converted?" was the sermon subject discussed by Rev. John Snape of the First Baptist church last night.

He said in part: "Graft is the getting of something for nothing by collusion and Zoroaster was the chief of the Jericho grafters. He was detected, executed and ostracized by his own people and of the Romans. This Jericho grafter got converted, but he had some obstacles in his way. There was a physical obstacle—he was a little man; a political obstacle—then, as now, the man who took up politics usually laid down religion; a financial obstacle—he was rich and it was true, and it is true that it is hard for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God; a social obstacle—his occupation of a position under Rome as a son of Abraham, caused

ROSES TO RULE AT FLOWER SHOW

Further to increase the exhibits of the spring flower show to be held on May 16, 17 and 18 under the auspices of the Alameda County Floral Society, members of the California State Floral Society have been asked to participate. This will bring exhibits from the gardens of San Francisco, the peninsula and San Rafael.

Roses will predominate at the show and there also will be an abundance of sweet peas, iris, rhododendrons, herbaceous peonies, oriental poppies, gladioli, pansies and flowering shrubs and climbers. One of the expected features of the show will be an exhibit of rare orchids by J. A. Carbone of Berkeley.

The Alameda County Floral Society was responsible for the very successful dahlia show last fall, and backing its members in this venture are local business men. The show will be held at the Hotel Oakland.

Bakery Wagon Drivers Demand $48 Weekly
The bakery drivers' union of the Eastbay district has served notice on all the bakeries that unless drivers are paid $8 a week increase over their present pay of $40 they will walk out. The increase would bring a bakery-wagon driver's pay up to $48, with pay for all holidays, according to the employers.

The bakery men of the Eastbay district will meet tomorrow night to discuss the new demands. In view of the present bread prices, bakers say it will be impossible to grant the increase without raising bread prices.

WOMAN GAGGED, BEATEN BY THUGS

Two masked men, thought to be the same who have figured in a number of other attacks on women, last night seized Mrs. Angelina Iannetta, 725 Twenty-sixth street, forced a gag into her mouth, and were beating her over the head with the butt of a revolver when the approach of an automobile put them to flight.

Mrs. Iannetta, who had left the home of a brother at Fifth and Brush streets, was nearing Seventh street on Grove, when the two men jumped out from behind a tree and seized her. She says that one of them thrust a handkerchief into her mouth and that the other threatened to kill her if she screamed.

She says she struggled and sought for help. One of the men hit her on the head with a revolver and she fell to the sidewalk. An automobile, coming by, threw its light on the scene and the men ran.

Mrs. Iannetta says that both men were masked, that they appeared to be young and that she believed their motive was not robbery. She is a Spanish woman of unusual beauty. With her head bleeding and her clothes badly torn she reported the attack to the police before she collapsed.

In working on the case today the police hold that it is possible that the two men are the two who were seen to have preceded Ulla Carlson from the end of the Piedmont avenue line on the night that she was murdered.
